Accepting Nominations: Notable Women in STEM

Ready to submit your application? Start here.

Crain's Chicago Business is proud to announce Crain's 2023 Notable Women in STEM, a special editorial feature within Crain's September 4 print issue and online that will profile top women leaders in the Chicago area making an impact in the fields of science, technology, engineering, or math. Your company and its executives are invited to submit a nomination survey that will help us determine this year's honorees. The special section will recognize individuals for their success and accomplishments during the last 18 months.

The deadline to nominate an individual for this feature is Friday, July 14, at 11:59 p.m. CDT. Ready to submit your application? Start here.

Criteria

Notable Women in STEM must...

- be a woman working in a senior science, tech, engineering or math (STEM) role
- make a measurable impact through her role and continue to have the power to effect change
- make significant contributions within their industry and/or community.
- mentor or sponsor other women in STEM roles
- demonstrate leadership in professional organizations and civic/community service initiatives.

Nominee location: Chicago area (Cook County, DuPage County, DeKalb County, Grundy County, Kane County, Kendall County, Lake County, McHenry County, Will County in IL, Lake County in Indiana, and Kenosha County in WI).

- Full time/hybrid nominees: Nominee works full-time or hybrid from a Chicago area office to qualify.
- Fully remote nominees:
  - If the nominee works for a company/team that is not based in Chicago, the nominee must live in the Chicago area listed above to qualify.
  - If the nominee is fully remote and works with a team in Chicago but does not live in the area listed above, they do not qualify.

Honoree profiles in the published feature will be based on information supplied in the nomination form. A reminder: The content is subject to editing by Crain's Chicago Business staff to meet style and editorial standards.

The submission deadline is July 14. Please fully complete all fields in the nomination form and click submit once complete.

Nomination Process

To get started, click the application link and sign in to your account. If you do not have an account, you will be asked to create one before you can proceed with the nomination form. Before you begin the nomination process and/or login to your account, please carefully review the nomination details below. Note: There is no fee to nominate. We recommend using chrome or firefox web browsers to complete your application.

Only one nomination is necessary per nominee. Multiple nominations do not increase the nominee's chances of being recognized.

Nomination forms must be completed and submitted by July 14 to be considered. All required sections of the form must be completed for consideration. Please note incomplete answers may result in disqualification.

You will be required to upload a high-resolution digital headshot (300 dpi minimum) of your nominee and include a link to an online published bio such as LinkedIn during this process. Self-nominations are accepted.

Honoree profiles in the published section will be created using the information supplied in the nomination form. We will not accept revised nomination forms, so take care that what you provide is accurate. Honoree profiles will not be provided for review before the section publishes. Crain's editorial staff holds full rights to edit information provided to meet style and editorial standards as well as space limitations. Do not submit information that is subject to change by the September 4 publishing date. Do not submit information you consider to be confidential.

Crain's Chicago Business will publish this year's special section in the September 4 print issue and online at chicagobusiness.com. Individuals chosen to be featured in the section will be notified by Crain's Chicago Business approximately three weeks prior to publication.
